C. Some wondered if the San Antonio Spurs, who won the NBA championship in 1999, were on the way out? Well, if you caught the playoff game on May 27, 2001, you saw the Spurs lose their magic, beat by the Lakers with 111 to 82! Among other reasons, big-man players Tim Duncan and David Robinson, who usually play together very well, couldn't seem to get it together.

In addition, the spurs faced important changes in summer 2001. Three top players, who helped them to win the 99 NBA title, all finished their contracts with the Spurs. Another great player who joined the Spurs the summer before, Derek Anderson, decided he would continue playing with San Antonio only if they gave him more money.

So would the Spurs be back the next year or were they on the way out? Only time and money would tell.
